

Discover the next generation of talent at Petfood Forum!

Meet the rising stars of the pet food industry

Petfood Forum is hosting the next generation of pet food industry professionals who are pursuing undergraduate and post-graduate degrees in companion animal, grain and science studies, nutrition, poultry, ingredient technologies, food technology, process engineering and manufacturing, packaging technology programs, and other related fields.

Petfood Forum is excited to connect your company with the future of pet food!

- Take advantage of the job board found in the “Future of Pet Food Pavilion”, where aspiring pet food industry stars will post their resumes, and you can post job or internship openings
- Conduct pre-scheduled meetings with highly qualified applicants to discuss job or internship opportunities within your organization
- Network with students at specially planned meet and greet events, held each day of the conference, to find the ideal addition for your company
